Expunging the Record.—J. S. Peters and T. N. Potts offered the following preamble and resolutions, which were considered :

WHEREAS, on the 19th day of November, in the year 1895, the following report was submitted to the Conference :

Your committee appointed to investigate the questions between R. H. Bennett and James Cannon, Jr., on the one part, and J. J. Lafferty, on the other, beg leave to report:

After an honest, prayerful and thorough investigation, we find that Dr. Lafferty, in the late unhappy controversy, has made statements the truth of which have not been sustained before us; but we desire to say—

First. In our judgment, Dr. Lafferty has not had the intent to injure the good name of the late Rev. Dr. W. W. Bennett.

Second. In our judgment, the unverified statements of Dr. Lafferty are due, not to a deliberate and wilful design to misrepresent facts, but to the prominence of self in his mental habit, and to the fact that the glory of self is the medium through which, without meaning to injure others and without conscious dishonesty, he views the history of his connection with the Richmond Christian Advocate, and the questions that have arisen out of it.

Third. We condemn the irritating utterances which have marked his conduct of the controversy, and for this reason, and by reason of the utter unprofitableness of such personal controversy as we have had conducted in public, and its liability to engender bitterness and provoke harsh expressions, the Virginia Conference should require, and does hereby require, of him that all such matters of personal controversy shall hereafter be excluded from the columns of its organ in issues of it, regular or extra.

We desire to add that in our judgment R. H. Bennett and James Cannon, Jr., under provocation, have made intemperate personal utterances in print, which are open to reproof, and we would hereby also require of them not to introduce such personal matters hereafter into the columns of the Methodist Recorder, the organ of the Farmville and Lynchburg Districts.

Finally, we recommend that in the matter of the inquiry committed to us no further proceedings are necessary.

(Signed)	W. V. TUDOR,	T. McN. SIMPSON,
	W. J. YOUNG,	RICHARD FERGUSON,
	W. F. TILLET,	W. W. LEAR,
	L. B. BERTY,	J. CARSON WATSON,
	J. M. BURTON.

In which form the said report, on the same day and year last mentioned, was adopted by the Conference and became the act and judgment of that body, and as such now remains upon the record thereof; now, therefore—

Resolved, That the said report and the record of the adoption thereof be expunged from the record, and that the Secretary be, and he is hereby, directed to execute this resolve.

J. SIDNEY PETERS,
T. N. POTTS.

Pending the discussion, W. W. Royall offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the resolution offered by Revs. J. S. Peters and T. N. Potts be referred to a committee of eleven, one from each Presiding Elder's district, who shall report to the Conference whether in their judgment it should pass or not, and that the decision of this committee shall be reversed only by a two-thirds vote.

We, the undersigned, hereby enter our solemn protest against the hasty action of the Conference taken on Saturday morning, November 18th. We protest against this action because, after we had been publicly accused on the floor of the Conference by J. S. Peters of the unchristian conduct of breaking our pledges made to this body four years ago, and of holding old grudges in our hearts, and after we had stated that we had been misrepresented, and had demanded a hearing, and after we had been told by the presiding Bishop that we could make our statement later on, we were cut off from any statement, and denied the right to reply to the statement of J. S. Peters by the call for the previous question. We protest against this hasty action as, in our opinion, unjust to us, and as calculated to destroy brotherly relations among the members of this body.

JAMES CANNON, JR.,

On motion of Paul Whitehead, it was ordered that a committee of three be appointed to reply to the above protest, and have the same spread on the Journal.

Firmly maintaining our belief in the sanctity of the institution of marriage, as taught by the Word of God, and as upheld by the laws of our land; and believing that any influence or movement that tends to lower the standard of marriage, or in any way threatens its existence, strikes at the foundation of our society, and in consequence, at the life of our Church and of our government; and believing that to have a confessed polygamist a member of the chief legislative body of our country will be a menace to the divine institution of monogamy, and that every lawful effort should be made to prevent this calamity to our cherished institutions:

Resolved, 1. That we, citizens of Virginia and members of this Conference, enter our protest against the seating of J. W. Roberts, the representative elected to Congress by the Mormons.

We, the undersigned members of the Conference, do hereby most respectfully enter our solemn protest against the expunging from the records the action of the Conference of 1895 in the Lafferty-Cannon case in a manner hasty, and, as we think, unjust to the minority, whereby, through use of the previous question, a number of the members of the Conference, and, among them, all the members of the committee in the case except one, were denied the opportunity to express their opinions or explain their votes.

The committee appointed to consider the offer made by the Chataqua-by-the-Sea to give to the Conference five acres of their property, upon condition that the Conference become responsible for the conduct of a camp-meeting and all other religious exercises at the assembly grounds, recommend the following resolution for adoption by the Conference:

Resolved, That, while we greatly appreciate the offer made by the Chataqua-by-the-Sea, we do not think it feasible to accept it on the conditions laid down.

W. J. YOUNG, Chairman.

Leave of Absence.—Leave of absence for the remainder of the session was granted to T. McN. Simpson and C. C. Wertenbaker.

Reply to Protests.—J. W. Bledsoe, from the committee of three appointed to reply to protests, reported as follows, and it was ordered that this be spread on the journal:

We, the committee appointed to consider the paper submitted by James Cannon, Jr., and R. H. Bennett, also that presented and signed by Richard Ferguson, W. J. Young, T. McN. Simpson, J. M. Burton, L. B. Betty and others, each protesting against the action of the Conference on Saturday last in the case relating to J. J. Lafferty on the one side and James Cannon, Jr., and R. H. Bennett on the other side, and make reply thereto, beg leave to report that we have carefully and prayerfully considered the grounds of protest as stated, and make reply to the same as follows:

We dissent from the statement that the action taken by the Conference was hasty and unjust, as about two hours were devoted to its consideration, and several speeches made on the question.

To the complaint that the right to reply to certain remarks alleged to have been made by J. S. Peters was denied by the call for the previous question—which remarks were about as follows: “I fear that the action of the Conference has utterly failed in establishing these fraternal feelings that should obtain among ministers of the Gospel of Christ, and in suppressing public, personal, newspaper attacks upon the ministers of this Conference, in proof of which I might cite instances but refrain”—we reply that we do not believe that the foregoing statement made by J. S. Peters in his speech before the Conference should be construed as accusing any parties of breaking their pledges, or of holding old grudges in their hearts. The call for the previous question was made and sustained by a very large majority, and that after discussion had progressed at considerable length: the Conference exercising a right claimed and brought into requisition by deliberative bodies to put an end to needless and fruitless debate.

To the statement that only one member of the original committee had the opportunity of being heard, we reply that the matter sought to be expunged from the record of the Conference, having passed from the hands of the original committee, and been acted on by the Conference, became the act and deed of that body, and each member of the Conference had an equal right to be heard, and no superior or prior rights could be justly claimed by any.

J. WILEY BLEDSOE,
W. W. LEAR,
R. T. WILSON.

REV. WILLIAM ROSSER SMITHEY.

BY W. W. ROYALL.

REV. WILLIAM ROSSER SMITHEY was born in Amelia county, Va., in 1848, and died in Henrico county, January 17, 1899, of apoplexy. For nearly six years his health had been delicate, but about two years before his death, while pastor of the South Brunswick circuit, he seemed to grow stronger. Hopes were entertained that his health might be at least partially restored. There were none who could fail to be saddened at the thought of his retirement, far more at that of his death; but little as we thought it, a bright, cheerful, sparkling letter that appeared in the Richmond Christian Advocate of January 18 was to be the last we should see from his pen. In two weeks, the Conference was shocked and grieved by the news of his sudden death.

He fell at his post. It had been the wish, perhaps ever the prayer of his life. Preaching at Shady Grove church, near the Hanover parsonage, on the morning of January 15th, 1899, he seemed about as well as usual. But at Greenwood that afternoon he seemed so very unwell that, when his sermon had progressed awhile, one of the stewards said to him, "Bro. Smithey, dismiss the congregation." He did so. He was helped to his buggy, and started to the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Seay, near the church. Before reaching the house, he became unconscious; and thus he remained until the following Tuesday, when he gave up his redeemed spirit into the hands of his Lord.

Thus passed to his reward no common man. Few among us have been more gifted by nature than he. Though always of delicate health and feeble frame, he possessed a mind of the finest quality. Denied as he was in early life the advantages of that higher culture of which he was so fully capable, it is hard to guess what, had God so ordered, he might have been, when the cutting, grinding and polishing processes of some great school should have brought out the sparkling light from the facets of his many-sided mind. But there are some minds so strong that they will grow and develop amid the most unfavorable surroundings, and will absorb nourishment from the most unpromising soil. Brother Smithey, while still young, entered the employment of the Richmond and Danville railroad company. In this, telegraphy was his duty, but never his task. It thoroughly fascinated him. His eager mind pursued the electric spark through earth and sky until it led him up to God, the Creator. Before his conversion, he was an eager and enthusiastic student of electricity as a force. In later life, in a lecture of great merit on that subject, prepared and repeatedly delivered by him, he combined a wealth of scientific thought and practical knowledge with a reverence for the Creator that thrilled the thoughtful hearer.

But, though capable of grasping any subject, and of pursuing and mastering any line of thought, there was one line of study and work that filled his soul and obtained the mastery of his mind. That work was the preaching of the Gospel. Modest, even to painfulness, almost awkward in his shrinking self-depreciation, he would appear at the opening of a sermon ill at ease and embarrassed. But, as the mind began to take full hold of noble thoughts, he forgot himself, he forgot his congregation, he forgot all awkwardness and embarrassment. His form grew erect, his eye flashed, his voice rounded, his face glowed. Language pure and lofty seemed to flow unbidden to his lips. No one ever heard him and doubted his call to the pulpit or his fitness for expounding the word of God. Of pulpit mannerisms, of tricks of speech, even of laws of elocution, he knew nothing. His sermon was no skillful patchwork of other men's thoughts. His gold had been mined, melted and minted in his own heart and brain.

His private life backed up and emphasized his high estimate of the Christian character. He was the soul of generosity and hospitality, no sordid smirch of covetousness ever soiled his white soul. He never complained of meagre salary. If close-fisted church members allowed this noble soul to struggle with sordid cares, they only classed themselves thereby with the church that could seat the prince of scholars and orators on the bench of the tent-maker, when the hard and toil-seamed hands emphasized at once his greatness and their own littleness.

His heart was as tender and as guileless as that of a child. His depreciation of his own worth bordered on the extreme. He could see and recognize talent in another, but seemed oblivious of his own manifest superiority. When feeling at all well, he was one of the most genial and companionable of men. His artlessness sometimes led him into laughable blunders, but no one greeted the outcome with greater mirth than he.

He was twice married—first in 1872 to Miss Nellie Hubbard, of Buckingham county, and again in 1875 to Miss Nanny Green, of Amelia, who, with five children, survives him, and whose amiable disposition and many excellent qualities smoothed many a rugged spot in his life's journey. He was a loving and tender husband and father, and he leaves to his children the priceless heritage of a fragrant name. It is no small testimony to his worth, as well as to his fidelity to his friendships, that nearly two-thirds of his ministerial life were spent on two charges. He was twice pastor of South Brunswick and three times of the Chase City charge. Be it said to the honor of that generous people, that when he was last sent to their charge they loyally and cheerfully accepted him, knowing fully that he was practically disabled, that they provided for his support and furnished him an assistant, all of their own motion. The man and the people were surely well met!

Though overshadowed by his pulpit ability, Bro. Smithey's talents were by no means mediocre. A series of articles from his pen on the subject of "Close Communion," showed him a capable logician and a clear and forcible writer. A short piece of his describing an old church in the county of Brunswick was really a gem of prose composition, and was so declared by the editor of the Richmond Christian Advocate.

Of the many gaps made in our ranks during this fatal year of 1899, few are wider and none was filled by a higher, purer type of man, of Christian, or of preacher, than that from which fell that sweet-souled comrade of ours, William Rosser Smithey.

REV. GEORGE E. BOOKER, D. D.

BY JOHN J. LAFFERTY.

The Conference is shrunken in its aggressive force by the death of the Rev. GEORGE E. BOOKER. He was not a spectacular apostle, making the pulpit a platform for professional piety. The solemn verities of our holy religion were not subjects for garish declamation. As with the old prophets of Jehovah, so with him; the message committed to his tongue was a "burden" on his heart. His care was not for tuneful sentences, in keeping with the dim light of cathedral glass. Nor was there concern for faultless clerical tailorings for his personal adornment. He was too robust of conscience to think scenery and costumes needful to call men to repentance.

His eye was single. The business that absorbed his thought and consumed his resources was the rescue of men from the captivity of the Devil. The ministry to him was a vocation—a call of God. The notion of social position or place of prominence never came to him. The impending "woe unto me if I preach not the gospel," and the crown of stars, alone moved him. He would have shunned clerical life as a respectable profession (for he loathed insincerity) had he not the assurance, "I am with you alway." It is not a question of doubt. It was an axiom of his character that the mind of an apostle—the high purpose of a Methodist pioneer—should be the loadstone of his career.

We may not say that he would have behaved in superior mood to the apostolic band in the hour of their despair, confusion and rudderless disarray, for who could have understood the seeming abject submission of their Messiah to a Caiaphas, a Herod, a Pilate? They had seen Him master of demons and death, yet it seemed that Satan was victor and the cross could not be avoided. The human mind is unnerved in the presence of a contradiction of its creed—axiomatic truth of conscience. It is safe to say such "an one" as George E. Booker would have rallied himself on the first dawn of a solution of the dark problem. Such was the firm fibre of his soul. We might have expected that this Virginian would have put on war harness when the ancient Commonwealth, his native heath, was menaced by armed invaders. He rose to the rank of a Major. Of his prowess, his fortitude and prudence, his comrades testified with pleasure. He succumbed to the hardships of the campaigns in the mountains of Virginia. He recuperated and entered the army again as a private, but soon became the chaplain of his regiment. Whether girt with weapons of war or bearing the emblems of our holy religion, he had honor among the choice ranks of Virginia.

In the ministry, his dominant motive was making Christ's men of citizens and edifying the church of God. The instrument of his success was the gospel, in its purity and pristine power. He did not dilute the stern element of the truth, nor prophesy pleasant things. Men heard an honest utterance as God gave him to find fit words for the divine message. Nor was the wrath of man mingled with the "terrors of the Lord," for he loved the people. He persuaded men by sincere words of sympathy for them in their dread dangers.

He did honest work. The new evangelism found no favor with him. He demanded that men should, indeed, "quit their meanness"—cease to do evil—but he did not value a physical reformation. He was clear and decisive on the doctrine of the new birth—"not of the will of man," but "born of God"—"from above." There must be a radical change, whose agent was the Spirit. Entrance into sonship must come by a divine paternity. And the children must know their Father by the witness of Him in their hearts. The church under his trowel had no "untempered mortar" in its walls.

He had superior advantages. He came of a sturdy race—a sound mind in a sound body. He graduated at Randolph-Macon College in 1853. He wove into his mind the spun web of college learning by imparting his knowledge to others while conducting a classical school in Farmville, Va.

He was a native of Buckingham county, Va. His parents were William Booker and Nancy D. Agee. In early life he moved to Cumberland county. He became a Christian and Methodist in 1848. He entered the Virginia Conference in 1859, serving Lexington, Va., as his first work. He was preaching in Patrick when the Civil War began, and gathering the hardy sons of the mountains, he joined the Southern forces. In 1865 he labored on Middlesex. He preached on a number of circuits; also in Suffolk, Elizabeth City, Petersburg (High Street) and Richmond (Union Station). He died in the faith February 13, 1899, at his home in Cumberland, Va. He had ceased active work in the ministry, and waited the summons to reward and rest. He lives yet among us in a son, whose genius, enterprise and training give hostages and hopes of a brilliant and victorious career in the ministry, worthy of his honored father.

So closed the service of Dr. Booker as citizen, soldier, Christian, and minister of God. The Commonwealth has been enriched in its moral and social worth by such a son. He was a man of distinct force. He cultivated his strong native parts from youth to age. He was a student, but not a book-worm; not like the white African ant, gnawing a volume into dead dust—rather like the teze fly, feeding on the brain of the stag only. He instructed, sub-soiled and sowed beneath the surface. His sermons had richness of information garnered from many sources. He spoke with dignity and engaging words. His presence in the pulpit befit the place. His virtues had deep root in a noble heart. No mortal ever mentioned him in connection with an unseemly deed. His word was sufficient security for a fact. He never betrayed a friend or misled a foe by simulated friendship. He conferred honor upon the Conference by his behavior on all occasions of moment. He loved us. We lament him.

REV. WILLIAM A. ROBINSON.

BY JOSEPH H. AMISS.

REV. WILLIAM A. ROBINSON was born in Gloucester county, Va., December 11, 1815. Converted in the same county July, 1836. He says, in a sketch of himself: "From the time of my conversion I felt a burning desire to be useful. I was left fatherless when about five years of age. Under God I owe all I am to the pious influence of my mother.

"For a long time I resisted a call to preach because I felt my incompetency for the work. My natural infirmities have greatly hindered me in the work of the ministry. I marvel that my brethren in the ministry should have borne with me so long. I was licensed to preach April 15, 1851, on Gloucester circuit; received on trial in the Virginia Conference, 1851; received into full connection and ordained deacon in 1853. Ordained elder in 1855."

He was sent to the following charges: Factories' Mission, 1851; York and Warwick, 1852; York, 1853; Goochland, 1854; Sussex Colored Mission, 1855-'56; Gloucester Mission in 1857.

After this he was placed on the superannuated relation, and continued in the same until he departed this life. He was humble, patient, consecrated, delighting in revival meetings and seeing sinners converted to Christ. He loved to be in the hottest of the fight, and God gave him many "souls for his hire and seals to his ministry." He started the building of Greenwood Church, on Hanover circuit, and collected the first money for the same.

He had not been able to appear in public for many months before his death. Was for some time confined to his room, but a short time only in bed before the end came. He read much so long as he was able, which pleasure was denied him for some time before his death. He often said: "I trust in God, sir; am in His hands, only waiting to go home. I want to go home, sir." Frequently said to his pastor: "I am praying for you." He often expressed much interest in the Conference, saying: "I love the brethren." He died February 17th, during the deep snow, at the age of 83. He was first interred in Tappahannock, taken up after the thaw, and re-interred at Ashland, Dr. J. A. Kern officiating. The general expression of those who knew him was: "A good man is gone." He leaves a widow and one child, who are trying so to live as to meet him in heaven.

REV. DEXTER W. REED.

BY J. C. REED.

DEXTER WILLIAM REED, son of Platt and Samantha Reed, was born in Oswego county, New York, February 3rd, 1866, and died in Amherst county, Virginia, March 2nd, 1899. His parents moved to Virginia and settled in Amherst county when he was quite young, and he often said that he felt he was a native Virginian. He was converted at Pleasant Grove Church, on the Amherst circuit, under the ministry of Rev. Jno. T. Moore, and at once connected himself with the Church and began to work in the Master's vineyard. The call of God to preach the gospel was soon felt, and in the year 1889 he was licensed to preach by the Quarterly Conference of Amherst circuit, Rev. Paul Whitehead, D. D., being the Presiding Elder. He sought to equip himself for the work of the ministry by attending Randolph-Macon Academy at Bedford City, and the college at Ashland. In the summer of 1894, he transferred his membership to Trinity Station, Lynchburg, Va., and was recommended by the Quarterly Conference of that charge for admission on trial in the traveling connection, November 7th, 1894, Rev. J. Powell Garland, D. D., being the Presiding Elder.

At the session of the Virginia Conference held in Charlottesville, Va., November 14th, 1894, Bishop A. G. Hagood presiding, Brother Reed was admitted on trial and appointed to the North Bedford Circuit. Upon this, his first field labor, he remained two years, doing a most efficient work. Under his faithful labors the circuit enjoyed great prosperity. Churches were built, the membership of the church nearly doubled, the preacher's salary paid in full, and a large increase in all the collections. His next appointment was to Matoaca, Petersburg District, where, on account of the health of his wife, he remained only one year. Here he was eminently successful in building up the church and establishing the people in the faith of the gospel. His next and last charge was Mount Pleasant circuit, Charlottesville District, upon which he was serving his second year when he was called from the ministry of earth to the ministry of heaven. Upon this charge, as elsewhere, success attended his labors. The church was edified by his ministry, the membership increased, and a new church begun by his predecessor was successfully carried to completion and dedicated. He was happily married in Bedford City, October 20th, 1896, to Miss Maria Louisa Sale, who shared his trials and cares, cheered and helped him in his work, and now, with her infant son, mourns her great loss. May the mantle of the father fall upon the son!

Though permitted to labor but a short time in the ministry, the work of Dexter W. Reed was crowned with a large measure of success. He leaves the rich legacy of a life spent in faithful work for the Master. His whole heart was in his work—zealous, earnest, faithful. Many souls were born into the Kingdom of God through his ministry. As a man, he was tall in stature and lofty in character. He was a manly man, brave and true. He sought to know the path of duty and bravely walked in it. Open, frank and sincere, he was a man to be trusted. You always knew where he stood on any question. He made good use of his opportunities for mental improvement, and was ambitious to do his best for his Master's cause. He preached well. Clear and distinct was the truth that fell from his lips. He was bold in declaring the whole counsel of God. He dealt faithfully with those to whom he ministered, as one who must give an account to God. Withal, he was humble and unselfish, seeking not his own but the things of Jesus Christ. When, after a successful meeting, a friend said to him: "Many will rise up in the last day and call you blessed," his reply was, "The honor comes from on high, and to God be all the praise." When his wife said to him after his health began to decline, that it would be best for him to stop a little while and rest, he replied: "No; I want to die in the harness. I feel that I have but few days more on earth, and I must do all the good I can while I can."

His last sickness was marked by great peace and quietude of spirit. When his wife, in her great grief, said to him that she would willingly take his place and let him live to do his work for God, his reply was: "No; it is best as it is. God doeth all things well. There is only one regret that I have, and that is leaving my loved work and my wife and little babe. But it is all right. I have committed myself into His hands to do with me as He thinks best."

And so our beloved brother fell asleep in Jesus.

O may I triumph so,
When all my warfare's past;
And, dying, find my latest foe
Under my feet at last!

Rev. A. C. Jordan conducted the burial services, and on March 3rd the mortal remains of Dexter W. Reed were laid to rest in the cemetery at Amherst Court House, Va., to await the resurrection of the just.

JOHN K. CLAYTON.

BY W. ASBURY CHRISTIAN.

One year and less than five months marked the short measure of time in which he had been engaged in his "loved employ," when he was stricken down, and ere long called to his reward.

JOHN K. CLAYTON died in Lynchburg, April 7th, 1899. He had scarcely recovered from an attack of grip when he contracted typhoid fever, the disease of which he died.

On Sunday evening, April 9th, his funeral was conducted from the church he had faithfully served. The writer, assisted by Revs. T. H. Early, J. W. Stiff, G. H. Lambeth, W. R. Evans and W. B. Beauchamp, conducted the funeral services. The love and esteem in which he was held by his people was attested by the sorrowful crowd which filled the church and which stood near the door and windows unable to gain entrance. His body was tenderly laid to rest by his comrades beneath the green sod of beautiful Spring Hill Cemetery to await the trumpet-call of the resurrection morn.

Brother Clayton was the son of Jas. W. and Lucy R. Clayton, and was born in Brunswick County, Virginia, December 9th, 1864. He was in his seventeenth year of age when he professed religion under the Rev. Wm. Dameron, and joined the Methodist Church. Very early he felt a call to the sacred work of the ministry, but like many of our preachers he had not the means with which to pay for his education. Besides, there were younger brothers and sisters dependent upon him, and he felt that he must first do his duty to them. When these responsibilities had been met, he turned his thoughts to his life work, laboring as a wage-earner on a farm so as to get enough money to pay his expenses at a private school. In 1892, he succeeded in entering Bedford Academy, and afterward Randolph-Macon College. As a man without means he had a hard struggle, but his was not a faint heart. He labored in vacation, preaching and selling books, to keep himself at school, and by earnest effort remained several years.

At the Conference which met in Danville, November, 1897, he was received on trial, and, at the same Conference, was ordained a local deacon. Brother Clayton was assigned to Cleveland Avenue and Providence, Lynchburg, and was preacher in charge of this work when he died.

Though an undergraduate of a short time, he gave promise of a useful minister of the Lord Jesus Christ. He was diligent in his work and faithful to the committed trust. As an example of his fidelity, I call to mind that when the fever was upon him he walked to one of his appointments, conducted the services and returned home to die.

In disposition he was bright and affable with a modesty that was as noticeable as it was becoming.

His life was mellow and savory from the inspiration which he drew from a close communion with his Saviour. One could not be with Clayton long without observing that he had been with Jesus and learned of Him. Then when this life ended, when the curtain of death shut out the soft morning light, he knew that the "best of all was God was with him."

"And tho' from out our bourne of Time and Place
The flood doth bear him far,
We know he saw his Pilot face to face
When he had crossed the bar."

REV. R. N. SLEDD, D. D.

BY PAUL WHITEHEAD.

ROBERT NEWTON SLEDD was born in Powhatan county, Va., December 19, 1833. The names of his parents were James V. Sledd and Ann P. Justice. His mother was of Huguenot descent, of the blood of those early settlers at Manakintown (on the south side of the James) whom Bishop Asbury sometimes visited. She was of a Baptist family. The father was of English stock and a sturdy Methodist. Living in the days when slave labor was most profitable and the judicious cultivation of tobacco a certain road to wealth for a man of industry, sobriety and economy, he became in time a farmer of considerable estate. A man of simple tastes, his purpose, like that of so many fathers, was to rear his children as he had been brought up. They got in the neighborhood schooling of varying quality. In Robert, laboring on the farm and attending these neighborhood schools, there had been dawning and rapidly growing a different view of his destiny. He had resolved to go to College! When his wish and choice were made known to his father, the old gentleman, with a struggle, overcame his natural repugnance to such a step and gave his consent. The young man, consumed with unsatisfied thirst for knowledge and mental development, entered Randolph Macon College, at Boydton, Va., September, 1851. There he remained four years, applying himself diligently and ardently, and graduated in 1855, already giving promise of future eminence. In the March of that year (1855), he had been converted under the ministry of the College chaplain, Rev. J. C. Granbery, and had joined the church of his father. For a year after his graduation he supported himself by educational work as Principal of the Clarksville Male Academy. In this time two highly important things in his life took shape. He had been for some time attached to a young lady of Warren county, N. C., Miss Fanny Carey Greene, and to her he was married in the fall of 1855. And he had felt a call to the ministry of the Gospel of such force that he could not resist it and retain his peace with God. He yielded his all at the demand of his Saviour, and came back to Boydton to put himself under the special instruction in theology of Dr. William A. Smith, President of the College. Renouncing hopes of earthly gain and fame, he committed himself irrevocably to the holy calling, and joined the Virginia Conference at the session of 1857, presided over by Bishop G. F. Pierce, in a class of twenty, of whom eight yet remain in our ranks. This entry into the ministry was a distinct disappointment to his father and at first a shock. Subsequently he became quite reconciled to it, and was very proud of his distinguished son. Well might he be grateful that he had willingly had a part in furnishing him for a career so noble!

For Robert N. Sledd rose rapidly to high usefulness and distinction in the ministry. Sent the first year to Suffolk, where he made a good record, he next had charge of Albemarle circuit with John J. Lafferty as junior. Two years of prosperity with great revivals and general progress brought him to the close of 1860, when war threatened the land. At the Conference of that year, held in Alexandria (which in four months was overrun and occupied by the Federal troops) he was sent to Market Street Station, Petersburg. This was his first important city charge. Thenceforward that class of work was to be his to the end, in Petersburg, Lynchburg, Richmond, Norfolk, Danville, with a two years' diversion (1880-1882) into the Presiding Eldership on the Richmond district. Two of our most important city churches he served eight years each, and another six, spending in these three more than half of his ministerial life. He had special adaptation for this service, and was always in demand and always sufficient for what was assigned him.

He was a delegate to all the General Conferences from 1878 to 1898 inclusive, and in that of 1894 was chairman of the delegation, his popularity among his brethren being, in his generation, as great as that of almost any other man. He was elected a trustee of his alma mater (Randolph Macon College) in 1877, and served faithfully till his death, being at that time first vice-president of the Board. He was several times proposed for President of the College, and in 1877 came near to election. He appeared, however, to be reluctant to turn from his work as a pastor, and this weakened the hands of his friends who nominated him. Emory and Henry College anticipated Randolph Macon in the conferment upon him of the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in the year 1875. Three years later he appeared in General Conference, and from that time began to attract notice in the connection at large. He was several times voted for in the election of bishops, and in 1890 received more than 90 votes. On the death of the lamented P. A. Peterson, in 1893, he was elected a member of the Board of Missions of our church, and at the time of his death was Vice President of that most important of our connectional boards. This position was the fitting sequel to his long connection with his Conference Board of Missions, of which he was President from 1884 to his death. To his management of our domestic mission work, and his labors at District Conferences and in localities to which he went on special occasions, we are largely indebted for the quickening interest of our people in this great work of missions. Preachers and people alike felt the influence of his stirring words and spirit. The charges he served showed marked improvement in zeal and collections. His sympathy and regard for the laborers on our domestic fields made a strong tie between him and these self denying men.

In 1890, he was appointed fraternal messenger from our church to the Methodist Church of Canada, and discharged the trust acceptably and with distinction.

On the floor of the Annual and General Conferences, he had little to say and was seldom heard in debate. He was averse to such speaking, being naturally reticent and brief of speech. To those who knew him best this was in harmony with his general temperament, and was probably invincible. An evil of it, however, was that he was comparatively unknown, in person, to very many of the brethren from distant Conferences by whom no adequate measure of his abilities was therefore attainable.

In the course of his life, he employed his pen to a considerable extent in the service of religious thought, by contributions to the periodical press of our Church. For several years he edited and conducted, in Richmond, a journal called "The Theological and Homiletic Monthly," which was a valuable addition to our publications. For this he had, however, neither sufficient time nor money, and suffered it to be discontinued. At the time of his death he had prepared for publication a volume of sermons which has been given to the world since his decease, under the title of "True Heroism and other Sermons." It will remain as a valued and prized memorial of his work; but to those who never heard him will, without his voice and delivery, convey an imperfect idea of his preaching.

His fame and place in Methodist history will rest chiefly upon his preaching. The part which he played in that great function of declaring the Gospel of Christ from the pulpits of our leading churches and before special audiences in numerous places outside of his Conference will be the foundation upon which will be built the approbation and commendation of the ages to come. He was, indeed, an "able minister of the New Testament" of that blessed covenant of grace in our Lord Jesus Christ upon which the hopes of millions of the human race stand to-day. He understood and had experienced the power of the Gospel, and God had fitted him rightly to declare it "in demonstration of the spirit and of power."

In matter he was always solid, strong, accurate, full, yet condensed. He labored hard in the preparation of his sermons that he might give his hearers the benefit of well-digested interpretation, exposition and application of the Scriptures. He was pre-eminently a scriptural preacher, drawing all his chief material from the Bible and treating his topic strictly in the light of Divine revelation. In historical subjects, his sermons often appeared to the hearer to be simply a vivid and luminous setting forth of the Scripture passage. A more instructive, practical, directly edifying preacher we did not have among us.

His style was clear, chaste, elegant, rising at times to a lofty beauty, but never loaded with verbiage nor encumbered with too much illustration. His delivery was very characteristic, but is difficult of portrayal. A pleasant voice always under control and never disagreeably loud; a manner dignified, solemn, in good taste, animated without extravagance, born of a natural gift for elocution and improved by careful adherence to good models and ideals; intense earnestness, everything fused into one mould by a spirit on fire with his theme and deeply intent upon his purpose; these were noticeable points of his delivery of his sermons, which were often highly pathetic, or deeply impressive, or powerfully persuasive or moving, as the case might be. Few men among us attained to a higher average force and effectiveness.

He relied, unfeignedly, for power and good results on the Holy Spirit, and his ministry was accordingly fruitful in a large measure. Hundreds of souls were converted under his preaching and conduct of services, regular and occasional. One of the greatest revivals in the churches he had charge of, that of January, 1871, in Court Street, Lynchburg, was unquestionably due mainly to his instrumentality. The sowing, planting, cultivation of years culminated in a reaping, the cutting-blade of which was in the hands of another. The polished, clear, evangelical sermons of the veteran evangelist, Dr. Rosser, his fiery exhortations and fervid appeals, fell upon a vast multitude made ready by Dr. Sledd's work in the pulpit and home for years together. "Many were the slain of the Lord," and sower and reaper rejoiced together. A notable spiritual power was observed about the last discourse he preached. It was on the text, "And holiness without which no man shall see the Lord," and when he touched the theme of the immaculate and unapproachable holiness of God, a great awe sat upon every heart.

It may help some despondent servant of God to know that even such a preacher, a man so beloved, so desired, so useful, so honored, was once sorely tempted, and that not in the very beginning of his ministry, to think of retiring from the work, as one mistaken in his calling and unblest and unendorsed by divine approbation. Opening his heart to his Presiding Elder (Rev. Geo. W. Langhorne), who prayed with him, turned aside this "fiery dart of the wicked one."

Of his personal religion, he was careful not to make an exhibition or display. His native reticence was even greater in this regard than where his common life was concerned. With very intimate friends he sometimes talked of spiritual experiences. The devoutness of his spirit, the regularity and circumspectness of his behavior, his fidelity to duty, the patience under afflictions which he constantly showed, were the best witnesses to the humble and deep communion in which he walked with the Saviour.

As a pastor, he was systematic and diligent, and greatly excelled in a prudent and faithful care of his flock. Though not a talkative man, he was a wise listener, and learned no little about his people while giving out somewhat of himself. By his cautious reticence, he avoided entanglements which might have injured his usefulness. His attentions to the poor, the distressed, and the sick, were prompt and soothing. Since his death, a writer in the Advocate has called attention to the degree to which he improved the comparatively meagre opportunities of the Presiding Eldership for visiting, by seeking the poorer members and the sick wherever he stopped. He was a wise governor and administrator of the affairs of the churches committed to him. He promoted their best interests by a firm, patient, and kind discipline, and by discreet leadership, not arbitrary lordship.

In private life, Dr. Sledd was a very lovable man. In his own family, he was tender, gentle, devoted. No husband and father was ever truer and tenderer, and few have ever been loved as he was. His intimate friends were greatly attached to him; and his unassuming bearing, his discretion, and his unselfish aims and life, had made him friends wherever he had gone. Not since the death of James A. Duncan has the grave of any man among us been bedewed by the tears of a greater multitude of God's children. At special memorial services, held in Danville and in other places, the unaffected tributes of affection for him, and manifestations of grief at his departure, were many and touching.

His last sickness and death shocked the great body of our preachers and people. Up to a few weeks before the annual meeting of the Board of Missions in Nashville, about the first of May, he appeared to be in excellent health. He had complained of not being well for a short time before that journey which he made through Atlanta, Ga., appointing there on his return, as a convenient spot for his son, Andrew, Professor of Greek in Emory College, a meeting with that son. If he was ill in Nashville, he did not make it known, nor indicate it plainly enough to invite the notice of his brother members of the Board, the sessions of which he attended as usual.

On Friday, May 5th, he took the train in Nashville for Atlanta. On the way, he became so ill that his condition aroused the concern of a fellow-traveller, a commercial drummer, who, though unknown to him, kindly assisted him to his hotel at Atlanta, and sent a telegraphic message to his son at Oxford, Ga. On the arrival of Prof. Sledd, his father was removed to the Grady Hospital, and the members of his household summoned to his bedside. His disease proved to be typhoid fever of a grave type, and, with some fluctuations, proceeded to a fatal result on the morning of May 15th. Before there had been time for any heart inside or outside his family circle to realize and make ready for so great a bereavement, the stroke of death fell. His spirit had departed, and the earthly tabernacle lay in ruins. The scroll of his labors was closed and sealed. The very little he was able to say, in such extreme illness, was in consistency with his well-known character and life.

His body was borne to the home and church in Danville, where, on the 16th, funeral service was conducted by Bishop Granbery, assisted by other ministers, in the presence of a large and deeply saddened congregation. Thence a cortege of friends, accompanied by Rev. W. V. Tudor, D. D., conveyed the precious dust to Powhatan county, where, with the solemn ritual of the church, they laid it beside that of his wife. After a decline of several years, she had been taken from her husband and loved ones in Danville March 20, 1898. Standing, August 21, 1898, at the railing which guarded the green spot where her grave was, he said to the writer, in his emphatic way, pointing to the grassy sod next to her grave, "I would rather be lying there than anywhere else in this world." The words did not then seem prophetic; but how soon fulfilled. In the freshly budding spring of the next year, his grave was filled near that of the woman who had been "the light of his eye," companion of his joys and sorrows, partner of his earthly destiny.

Three sons and two daughters, all grown, survive their parents. To them, and the Church of our Lord Jesus Christ, the legacy of a spotless name and noble life is bequeathed.

REV. JOHN McCLELLAND.

BY W. A. CROCKER.

REV. JOHN McCLELLAND, a superannuated minister of the Virginia Conference, died at his residence in Isle of Wight county, Va., July 13, 1899, in the seventy-ninth year of his age.

Rev. McClelland was born in Cumberland county, Pa., March 22, 1821, of highly respectable parentage. His father was not a religious man, but his mother was a woman of piety and intelligence, a devout member of the Presbyterian Church, and took great pains in the religious instruction of her large family of children. They lived in a rural district, were in very moderate circumstances, and consequently our brother, in early life, had but few educational advantages.

He was converted at the age of sixteen at a revival meeting held in his neighborhood. His conversion was clear and his experience joyful. This happy state continued for about two years, but he was led astray by evil associates, became lukewarm, and fell into a backslidden state. About this time he went to reside with an elder brother in Winchester, Va. Here he was renewed at a meeting held by Rev. William Hamilton, of the Baltimore Conference. Moving soon after to Cumberland, Md., he united with the Methodist Protestant Church. He became a zealous and active worker in the church, and his piety and gifts attracting the notice of his brethren, they persuaded him to accept exhorter's license. This was in 1844. The following year he was licensed to preach. His pastor, Rev. P. L. Wilson, took much interest in him, furnished him with books, directed his studies, and advised him to apply for admission into the Maryland Conference. He hesitated on account of his felt lack of preparation for the work of the ministry, but finally consented, and in March, 1845, was received on trial into the traveling connection.

For several years he served as junior preacher; was ordained deacon in 1849; served two years in charge of Harford circuit, and one year at a mission church in Washington, D. C.

During these six years his health had been feeble, and he had great struggles and misgivings on account of his meagre preparation for the ministerial work. He finally concluded to stop a year or two, and devote himself to study. An arrangement was made with Rev. Augustus Webster, D. D., pastor of St. John's Church, Baltimore, who took him under his care and instruction. That he made good use of his opportunity was evinced in his subsequent ministerial life.

In 1855, at the request of the President of the Virginia Conference, he took charge of the church in Norfolk, Va. This was the year of the yellow fever. He remained at his post, but owing to the terrible scourge, could accomplish but little. That fall he joined the Virginia Conference, of which he continued an active and useful member until 1870, when, with others, he was received into the Virginia Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Since his connection with this Conference, he has served consecutively on Isle of Wight, Surry, Middlesex and West Hanover circuits. Owing to the failure of his health he was superannuated in 1875. But though retired, he was not idle. He cheerfully rendered what service he could, and gave his hearty support and co-operation to the pastors of the circuit.

Bro. McClelland was a good preacher, sometimes eloquent, and his labors were much blessed. He was a great reader and laborious student. He loved to dwell on the deep and inspiring themes of theology. He was a true man, a faithful friend, and a courteous Christian gentleman.

He leaves an aged and feeble companion—the gentlest and most saintly of women—an only son, and several grandchildren to mourn their loss. He died in great peace and in assured hope of immortality.

REV. JAMES A. RIDDICK.

BY PAUL WHITEHEAD.

REV. JAMES ANDREW RIDDICK was the oldest member of our Conference, both in length of life and in years of continuous membership. When he "fell on sleep" he lacked but five days of completing his 89th year, and had been on the Virginia Conference roll more than sixty-six years.

He was a native of North Carolina, born in that part of the State which until 1894 was in our Conference territory. On the 13th day of September, 1810, near the village of Sunbury, in Gates county, he saw the light. The Riddick family, which has furnished no less than five preachers to our Conference, was a large connection in lower Virginia and North Carolina. They have (to use the language of our deceased father) "branched off to such an extent that many of them claim no kinship at all." On his mother's side he was directly descended from the Alstons, an ancient and distinguished family of North Carolina.

He was converted and joined the Methodist Church at a camp-meeting near Sunbury when just past seventeen. In the house of James McGuire, his brother-in-law, a resident of Suffolk, Va., to which place he removed about this time, he came under very favorable religious influences, frequently meeting there the Methodist preachers of the day, including such great men as Bishop McKendree and Hezekiah G. Leigh, as well as Melville B. Cox, missionary to Africa, and men of genius like Martin P. Parks.

The "call to preach" naturally developed in this atmosphere. Going to Brunswick county, when he was of age, to engage in merchandising, he there met Rev. John Wesley Childs, whose saintly spirit and life greatly impressed him and completed what had been begun in this respect at Suffolk. "After great agony of mind," the die was cast; he closed business and went with Brother Childs to Conference in Norfolk, in 1832, taking an appointment as a helper supply under Jesse Powers in Amelia. Such preliminary work was very common at that time. At next Conference, February, 1833, in this city (where it was ordered that he should close his eyes and this memoir be read), he regularly entered the itinerancy. Another place is much associated with his ministry, seeming to have an attraction such as is sometimes noted in the life of Methodist preachers. This is Amelia circuit. There he ministered at four different periods. There he married the wife whose companionship blessed and brightened so many of his days, Miss Judith A. Gregory, the mother of his seven children. To her he made many affectionate allusions, and her loss was keenly felt.

As is not unusual in a man who eventually goes far beyond the ordinary span of life, many of his earlier years were times of enfeebled health; and in several short periods he was, on this account, not appointed to a field of labor. At that day, a man might be "left without appointment" for such a reason. From 1833 to 1861, with the exception just noted, he was in the regular work, including eight years as Presiding Elder on the Randolph-Macon (nearly answering to the present Farmville) and the Murfreesboro' districts. Before his marriage he had been pastor of several stations in the towns of considerable consequence, beginning at Shockoe Hill, in Richmond, the predecessor of the present "Centenary" of that city, and including Charlottesville, the seat of the University of Virginia.

In this period of activity in the itinerant ministry he was Secretary of the Conference Missionary Society, and for a considerable length of time Assistant Secretary of the Conference under John Early as chief.

In 1861, the civil war having begun, his health being not of the best, the cares of family and estate being considerable, and the time of his life appearing to him more advanced relatively than it now seems to us to have been, he took a supernumerary relation and settled at Stony Creek, in Sussex county, on the line of the Petersburg and Weldon Railroad.

During the eventful period of the war he preached in the surrounding country at various points, as he was able, and through that sorrowful and calamitous time was (as he notes) "wonderfully preserved," so that he emerged from the doleful shadows in comparative comfort, with his family circle unbroken and with a cheerful and energetic spirit. Accommodating himself to the new order of affairs, he remained at Stony Creek for four years after the death of his wife (in the year 1881), going on the superannuated list in 1883; and in the year 1885 removed to the city of Petersburg, where, in the society of his daughters and the occasional company of old friends, he spent the evening of his long life, fulfilling his own expressed desire that he might "go down to his last resting place as one who wraps around him the drapery of his couch and lies down to pleasant dreams."

He retained the use of his faculties to the last, and was able to converse, read, write for the church press and maintain correspondence with family and friends. He preached occasionally until the very last years, and attended Conference sessions when in reach, generally addressing the body in an impressive manner with well-sustained clear voice when his name was reached in the examination of character. When absent, he usually sent a short letter, full of affection and good wishes. His physical preservation was as wonderful as that of his mind and cheerful disposition. His handwriting was firm and clearcut, like that of a man of forty-five; his relish for life was unimpaired; and with no vain repinings, no sour reflections or gloomy forebodings, he reposed unfalteringly upon the Divine promises and providence. Full of thankfulness for God's amazing mercies, this patriarch of the church and ministry, like another Jacob, "worshipped leaning on the top of his staff." Out of the chamber of his retirement and from his dying bed came no other than cheerful notes of resignation, faith and love, and exulting hope in which he rejoiced in full view of the glory of God to be revealed in the better, the imperishable world.

His decline toward the grave, though gradual, was more marked in the last year or so, and thus his final sickness was not unlooked for. He was without pain, for he was without disease. "The weary wheels of life" began to stand "still at last." His mind was not obscured; the vivid realization of eternal things he had long cultivated caused him to speak constantly to those about him of his "departure out of this present life" as "GOING HOME." Tranquilly resting on his Lord's breast, he breathed out his life "sweetly there."

The funeral service was conducted from this (Washington Street) Church, and his body rests in the Blandford Cemetery, where a number of his contemporaries, Cowles, Kerr, Charlton, Stanly, and other holy men of God, are interred. There will "break" some day to him the "illustrious morn" of the resurrection of the dead who "sleep in Jesus."

In his prime, Brother Riddick was a popular and effective preacher. He delivered short sermons, more or less ornamented with rhetorical beauties and pointed with apt illustrations. He was particularly well acquainted with old-fashioned Methodist divinity, and drew out of his treasury "things new and old" of that wholesome type. Like all the older Methodist preachers, he dealt largely with experimental godliness, and insisted upon the religion in which men walk with God and read their title clear to heavenly mansions. He was a well-read man in general, and through life kept in touch with his times. Well-versed in Methodist history, and having heard from the lips of ancient men of renown in our Zion the stories of their labors and eventful experience, both in conversation and in print, he regaled hearer and reader with the accounts of their trials and triumphs.

He was a frank, hospitable, courteous man; dignified in his bearing, cordial in his greeting, affable and of pleasant speech. He loved the society of good men, and was interested in the progress and success of all gospel agencies and all benevolent enterprises.

His venerable presence has disappeared from the places of our annual assemblies. He is gone to join the company of holy men of old, whom he knew and admired in his earlier years. His memory will be precious in our generations. We embalm it with our affectionate and reverent notice in this long-established custom of the Methodist Conferences, and lay it away in the archives, where the records of the faithful servants of God are preserved, for the instruction and stimulation of the ages to come.

REPORTS.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

REPORT No. 1.

The report of the Secretary of the Board divides itself naturally into two parts. First, that which pertains to the regular work of the Board, and secondly, that which has to do with the special work committed to it in connection with the Twentieth Century Thank-offering Movement.

As to the regular work. Owing to the great amount of work which has devolved upon the Executive Committee in connection with the Twentieth Century Movement, there has been little advance in the regular work of the Board. The endeavor has been made to secure as complete a report as possible from every charge—(1) As to the number of boys and girls of boarding-school age; (2) As to the number who are attending our schools; (3) As to the number who would attend were they able to do so; and (4) As to the number of those whom the pastors think to be deserving of aid from the Board of Education. Blanks were sent to every pastor, and he was requested to fill them out. We regret to state that replies were not received from over sixty per cent. of the charges, and in many cases these replies were very meagre, and insufficient for use as a basis in forming any accurate conclusions. We cannot but urge, therefore, once more upon our pastors the necessity of aiding the Board of Education in these particulars. It does not require any expenditure of money, but simply a careful and thorough investigation of the condition of the young people of their charges. From the reports received, three conclusions can be drawn with safety.

First. That a very large proportion of the boys and girls who do attend school do not attend our church schools, but are in State or private institutions.

Second. That certain pastors always have representatives from their charges in our church schools, showing that the pastor can have much directive influence as to the schools attended by the young people of his charge.

Third. There are a great many girls and boys who, in the judgment of their pastors, deserve and would profit by assistance, if the Board, or our schools and colleges, had the means at their command to help them to a higher course of study. It is firmly believed that no work of the pastor will bring a more abundant fruitage than the endeavor to get the young people of his charge to attend the higher institutions of his own church. It is hoped and believed that one of the best results of the great Twentieth Century Movement will be the stimulation of a deep-seated conviction among our preachers and people of the value and necessity to the church of having thoroughly equipped high grade institutions of learning, and of having our young people educated in these Methodist schools. From the reports received by the Secretary from the various institutions, there is an increase of patronage in all of the schools belonging to the Church except the Bedford Academy, where there is a slight decrease. The exact facts will be set forth in Report No. 2, containing statistics of the Board. So much for the regular work of the Board of Education.

Now as to the special work which has been committed to the Board in connection with the Twentieth Century Thank-offering Movement.

At the last Conference, Dr. W. W. Smith was requested to take the office of General Manager of the canvass, and to act in co-operation with the Board. The Board committed its part of the work to the Executive Committee, consisting of the President, the Secretary and Mr. E. F. Sheffey, of Lynchburg, Va. This committee began its work the first of December, and has held several meetings during the year. At these meetings, plans and methods were thoroughly discussed, and those adopted which seemed to promise the best results. It was unanimously agreed by the General Manager and the Executive Committee that the first thing to be done was to engage in a campaign for the dissemination of information. The rank and file of our church membership were not informed as to the plans and purposes of the General Conference. It was determined therefore to adopt such measures as would impress upon our people the magnitude of the movement and the reasons underlying it. As the first step toward this end, the pastors were requested to address their people upon the movement from their pulpits. Then the General Board of Education, at Nashville, was requested to originate and prepare literature suitable for the work. The outcome of this request was the establishment of the organ of the General Board, New Century Education. Our pastors were requested to furnish the names and addresses of all the families connected with our Church, and 20,000 copies of New Century Education were subscribed for by the Board and sent to our people for the period of six months.

As an additional means of arousing interest, awakening enthusiasm, and producing conviction, the services of Bishop Charles B. Galloway, the Chairman of the General Board, were enlisted, and a series of mass meetings was arranged touching nearly all of our centers of population and reaching a large majority of our preachers.

Following within a month after Bishop Galloway's meeting at Blackstone, and resulting somewhat from that meeting, a movement was started in the Blackstone Institute which resulted in a subscription of $4,501.50, and the movement spread from there to the Woman's College, resulting in a subscription of $4,445; next to the Bedford Academy, resulting in a subscription of $1,173.50; and finally to the college at Ashland, resulting in a subscription of $2,645, making a total subscription from the officers, teachers and students of these four institutions of $12,765, and thus furnishing such a nucleus as convinced the General Manager and the committee that the amount apportioned to the Virginia Conference would all be subscribed, and much more besides.

It became apparent by this time that it would not be wise to attempt any thorough canvass of the town and city charges until the fall or winter. It was determined then to make the next effort at the District Conferences. These were all visited by representatives of the Board, and one or more addresses made at each Conference. In nearly every case much interest was manifested by preachers and people, and in several cases the addresses were followed by an open subscription; notably, the Danville District subscribing about $1,500, the Richmond District about $2,000, and the Farmville District about $2,900. Since the District Conferences, Dr. W. W. Smith, the General Manager of the canvass, has held himself at the service of the brethren on the various charges, who might be ready to hold mass meetings and take subscriptions.

Owing to the near approach of Conference, and the work consequent therefrom in raising the regular collections, comparatively few of the pastors have called upon him. The subject has, however, been presented in about twelve or thirteen charges, and always with encouraging results. In no charge where there has been any attempt at a thorough canvass has there been a failure to reach the minimum assessment, and in nearly every case the amount subscribed has gone far beyond this.

In most of the charges there has been no canvass, but subscriptions have been made in a number of them, aggregating a considerable sum, and the following statements will show what amount has been subscribed in the Conference up to the present time:

For information, a second table has been made, showing the amount which has been subscribed by the preachers and their families. This table will not be read, but it shows that the amount of $6,000 has been given by sixty of our preachers.

It is a matter for great gratification that the pastors, the leaders of our people in spiritual things, are showing themselves worthy leaders in gratitude and thanksgiving to God for his unnumbered blessings, and in their high appreciation of the boundless possibilities for the centuries to come.

In view of the above facts, and of the additional fact that in no charge has a thorough canvass been made, there is every reason to believe that the Virginia Conference, in the coming year, will indeed make an offering, which, added to the present subscription, shall stand as a worthy and enduring monument of the gratitude and hope of our Methodist preachers and people. May the Lord help us to rightly estimate our opportunity, and reap the field thoroughly, even down to the smallest gleanings.

JAMES CANNON, JR.,
Secretary Board of Education.

From the foregoing statement of what has been done in our Conference this year, it is evident that success is within our reach in this matter if only it is pressed with wisdom and with zeal. Our people are not indifferent to the oblige-tions resting upon them, and will respond when the matter is properly presented and urged upon their attention. It is not to be expected that they will be moved by any great impulse to make a voluntary offering if our preachers do not lead them. They depend upon the preachers in large measure for information concerning the needs and movements of the church, and for this purpose they have been, in the providence of God, put in the position of leadership. If the preachers are not impressed with the importance of this movement, and the opportunities of this time, how can we hope that the people will be? But if we apprehend the call of God that comes to us in the needs and opportunities of the hour, and are actuated by holy zeal for the upbuilding of the kingdom of our Lord, by the aid of His Spirit, our people may be led to make a worthy offering to His cause, and to receive, as He has promised, the blessings of enlarged power. By every token, we are called to embrace an opportunity that will come to us no more. Our brethren of every land are bringing their offerings to the altars of God and bearing blessings away. England is ablaze with zeal in this work. Already they are within reach of the mark they have set for themselves, and will doubtless go beyond it. On our own continent, in Canada, and in our sister communion, the Methodist Episcopal Church, the work is spreading and growing in power as it moves. They can claim no advantages over us in blessings received, nor do greater obligations rest on them than on us. It was among us that Methodism found its first rooting, and its most congenial soil, in this continent. Through the Church we love have God's rich gifts come to us in constant stream for a century and a half.

During the dark days of our early struggle for liberty and national independence, the gospel, as preached by the early Methodists, won its converts and grew apace, and when the clouds of war broke from our sky our fathers were ready to organize the Church; and before our government had taken form Episcopal Methodism had assumed permanent shape and was sending the heralds of the cross wherever a settler could be found. Of the glorious history of our Church for the years preceding our Civil War, it is not necessary to speak. What this country would have been without the gospel preached by our fathers no one can imagine. And when the shock of that great strife fell upon us, and the institutions of our country were tried to their foundations, the grace that had blessed amidst prosperity shone with greater glory amidst the darkness and demonstrated its power to sustain in adversity and to organize victory out of apparent defeat. The prosperity that has come to our land since then has come from God through the Church. No part of the Church, and certainly no division of Methodism, can point to successes more marked than have come to us. Our growth in numbers and resources has been almost phenomenal. And now that the new century is knocking at our doors, and every indication prophesies of it greater things than have yet been, the memories of the past—the gratitude that should be awakened by recalling the goodness of God—and the possibilities of the future, call us to new and higher endeavors. We cannot afford to enter the opening door of the new century without God with us any more than Israel could afford to cross the Jordan and undertake the conquest of Canaan without the accompanying presence of Jehovah. One Achan in the camp then was enough to bring defeat upon all the host. What will come to us if, when God calls for us and ours, we hide the wealth His hand has given and claim it for our own? Past and future both combine to call us to bring a worthy offering to God. If we are indifferent to the blessings of the past, the future can hold no large things for us. What has been asked for is not a tithe of what we should bring to God. Were there no evident need for such gifts, we should be prompted to offer them nevertheless. But the need is great. Our educational institutions have been crippled for lack of funds to do the work they were projected to do. Noble men have given their labors freely, and some have given their lives, to do the work that was needed to be done, and which had to be done at so great disadvantage; but now there is no reason why this department should be longer handicapped by insufficiency of money. God has given to us abundance with which to do all that He requires at our hands. He has given to us that we may give back to Him and have His material gifts transmuted into spiritual blessings. If we fail now—but we must not fail. We will not allow the thought. Brethren, the cause is God's—the work is ours. As we hope for His blessings here and heaven hereafter, let us up and to the work.

We offer the following resolutions:

1. That a subscription be now taken, under the terms of the action of the General Conference, said subscription to include all previous subscriptions made by members of the Conference.
2. That it be made the duty of the preacher in charge of every station, circuit and mission in the Conference to present this cause to his charge in harmony and co-operation with the plans of the Board of Education, and to seek to secure a thank-offering from every member.
3. That the Presiding Elder of each District, together with two preachers and two laymen, to be nominated by the Board of Education, be constituted a committee to co-operate with the Board of Education in arranging the canvass of the District.
4. That the publishers of the Richmond Christian Advocate, the organ of the Conference, be requested to give one page of the Advocate to the work of the Twentieth Century Fund, the matter for the same to be furnished by the General Manager of the canvass.
5. That the Board of Education is instructed to turn over to the Treasurer of the Board of Missions five per cent. of the cash collected on all subscriptions made from the time of the passage of this resolution, to be used for the educational work of the Church in the foreign field.

A. COKE SMITH, Chairman.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

REPORT No. 2.

We report to the Conference the educational statistics for the year, and recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

1. That the Presiding Bishop be, and is hereby, requested to appoint Rev. W. G. Starr, D. D., as President of Randolph-Macon College; and Rev. W. E. Edwards, D. D., as Professor of Moral Philosophy and the English Bible in Randolph-Macon College; and to re-appoint Rev. James Cannon, Jr., as Principal of Blackstone Female Institute; Rev. E. H. Rowe, as Principal of the Southern Seminary of Bowling Green, Va.; Rev. John T. Payne, as Principal of the Gordonsville Female College, and Rev. R. M. Saunders, D. D., as Instructor in the Randolph-Macon Woman's College.
2. That the Joint Board of Finance be requested to apportion to the several districts $3,500 for the benefit of Randolph-Macon College; $564 for the uses of the General Board of Education, and $200 for Paine and Lane Institutes—the whole sum of $4,264 to be pro-rated.
3. That inasmuch as Dr. W. W. Smith has been elected manager of the Twentieth Century canvass in the Baltimore Conference, and desires to give part of his time to that work, that Dr. W. G. Starr be elected joint manager of the canvass, under the advice and direction of the Executive Committee of the Board of Education.

We recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Conference accepts the Southern Seminary at Bowling Green, subject to the following conditions:

- 1st. The property shall be deeded to trustees for the Conference, free from incumbrance.
- 2d. The institution shall be placed under the absolute control of a Board of Trustees, and correlated with the Randolph-Macon Woman's College; said Board of Trustees to be elected by the District Conference of the District in which the institution is located.
- 3d. That when these conditions are complied with in the judgment of the Board of Education, the said Southern Seminary shall participate in the benefit of the Twentieth Century collection in accordance with the general plan of the canvass.

BOARD OF COLPORTAGE.

With profound sorrow your Board reports the extreme illness of our colporter, Rev. A. G. Brown, D. D. He lies helpless by the gates of death where, in perfect peace, he awaits the call to enter into eternal rest. He was a tower of strength among us. His business capacity and devotion to the work have given us one of the best depositories in Southern Methodism, and have put us in position to inaugurate a system of colportage which will enable us to put our literature into the hands of all our people.

The following is his report of the work done during the present Conference year :

To the Board of Colportage of the Virginia Conference :

DEAR BRETHREN,—The colportage system of to-day resembles only in name the system of ten years ago. Exactly one decade has passed since, at a Conference held in Richmond, Va., a motion was made and unanimously carried, that your present Agent be recommended to the presiding Bishop for appointment to the colportage agency. Thus appointed, he consented to serve the Board, with the distinct understanding that it should not interfere with his appointment in the regular itinerant ministry (as had been the case with the previous Agent). This was the beginning of the present system. To appreciate the real state of development, especially from a financial standpoint, that the Colportage work has experienced during these ten years, your attention is called to a few items of the report of 1888-89, viz :

Funds contributed and raised for the work.....	$3,869 18
Salary and traveling expenses of Agent.....	1,435 50
Volume of business.....	3,089 76

From these statistics we learn the following facts : To do the work that the Conference Depository was established to do, an expenditure of $1,435.50 was found necessary for running expenses, exclusive of office expenses, and also that this amount, and more besides, was raised in our churches for the use of the Colportage Board in the pursuit of this good work. The new plan of colportage was inaugurated in 1889, the same year your present Agent was selected to attend to its affairs. It differed mainly from the old plan in that no salary or expense was to be allowed the Agent ; also, that no money was to be contributed for its maintenance. The capital upon which the business was to be conducted was much less than that used the previous year, and being composed of the following :

Books .....	$ 734 31
Cash.....	1,190 35
Total capital.....	$1,924 66

It is true that this amount was insufficient to conduct a credit business. However, to require cash with each order for books meant discouragement to those who sold our books on commission, and to many schools that could not always arrange to collect the necessary funds at once when they were actually suffering for the books which, perhaps, were stored upon the shelves of the Depository. As the Sunday-school literature department of the Publishing House is conducted on a cash basis, the same policy was found necessary to be pursued with the patrons of the Depository. The rule, however, has not been strictly enforced, for frequently Sunday-school literature is sent out on credit, and payment for same is often made three and sometimes six months afterwards, and in some cases never made. As all bills against the Depository are liquidated when due, frequently your agent has had to use his own paper to obtain funds wherewith to meet these obligations. For several years past, to accomplish this purpose, to be able to extend credit to deserving schools and individuals, and to be able to handle a larger stock of books, your Agent has added $1,216.44 of his own private means to the sum of $1,924.66 of the Board's, making total capital $3,141.10.

Upon this capital during the year, closing with November 1st, 1899, your Depository has sold books and Sunday-school literature to the amount of $8,620.19, and allowed in discounts $987.95. An average monthly payment of $519.10 has been made by the Depository to the publishers with whom it deals, and of this amount $498.12 has been paid to Messrs. Parbee & Smith, agents, for goods gotten from them.

These figures give you an idea of the amount of business and good accomplished, but in order to see how the Virginia Conference Colportage Board compares in this work with Boards of other Conferences in our Southern Church, the following is quoted to you from a letter to your agent from Brother D. M. Smith, of the House, in regard to the volume of books sold during the four years, from April 1st, 1894, to April 1st, 1898, viz :

Rev. A. A. P. Neel, Baltimore Conference.....	$ 5,922 00
Rev. G. W. Becham, N. Mississippi Conference.....	6,218 00
Methodist Book and Publishing Co., N. Ga. Conference. ....	10,315 00
R. H. Barrett, Florida Conference.....	11,168 00
Godbey & Thornburg, Arkansas Conference.....	14,250 00
T. J. Gattis, North Carolina Conference....	20,420 00
Dr. A. G. Brown, Virginia Conference.....	20,440 00

From the above you see that your Conference is the banner Conference of Southern Methodism in regard to this great work of colportage, and let us hope that great good has also been accomplished. The first and underlying principle in the execution of the work entrusted to your Agent was to conduct it on a strictly business basis. This has been his guiding star, and is the sequel of the success which has crowned his efforts. As has been mentioned in previous reports, the employment of regular colporters does not seem to meet the demand of the case, as evidenced by the small sales they have made in the past, and large debits that yet remain on the ledger of the Depository against them. Hence, another policy has been pursued in enlarging our sales—viz: that of encouraging the preachers to supply their churches and people with the books and periodicals which are kept in stock at your depository. Business has also been increased by advertising, and especially by means of circular letters.

During the session of the last annual Conference, held in Portsmouth, Va., the following resolution was offered and passed: "That the Joint Board of Finance be, and they are hereby authorized and requested to collect from Rev. Alex. G. Brown the money belonging to the Conference, and now in his hands as Superintendent of Colportage, and use the same in behalf of the widows and orphans and superannuated preachers of the Conference on the plan adopted to secure comfortable homes for their relief and benefit." In compliance with the sense of the resolution, a sub-committee of the Joint Board of Finance met in Richmond, Va., August 1st, 1899, and drew up the following paper, which was promptly signed by both parties concerned: "B. F. Lipscomb, S. D. Turner, Geo. L. Neville, M. A. Cogbill, of the committee to settle with Dr. A. G. Brown on account of the Colportage interest of the Virginia Conference, met at the office of Dr. A. G. Brown, Jr., and Mr. Willie S. Brown, representing Dr. A. G. Brown, present.

It appears that the amount due by Dr. Brown is as follows, viz :

For book which went into his hands.....	$ 734 31
For cash at different times, from different sources.....	1,190 35

The committee agreed that on account of the unsalable condition of many of the books, a deduction of 25 per cent. should be made, which amounts to $183.58, leaving $1,741.08 due by Dr. A. G. Brown. This amount of $1,741.08, Mr. W. S. Brown agrees to pay in money in the near future, not later than the next session of the Virginia Annual Conference."

The above agreement has been duly complied with, and now all the books and money in the hands of your Agent, as well as all assets of the Depository, is by virtue of the above his personal property. These facts and suggestions are respectfully submitted, and I would take pleasure in giving any further information the Board may desire.

W. S. BROWN,
For Alex. G. Brown, Agent.

We offer the following :

WHEREAS, It appears that the law of our Church does not provide for a Board of Colportage; therefore—

Resolved, 1st. That the Board of Colportage of the Virginia Conference be and the same is hereby dissolved.

Resolved, 2d. That a committee of three be appointed to consider and report what action, if any, it is expedient for this Conference to take to aid the Book Agents in putting our literature in the hands and homes of our people.

J. T. MASTIN, Chairman.

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS.

According to the report received from our Sunday-school Editor, Rev. James Atkins, D. D., there are 936,187 persons in the Sunday-schools of the M. E. Church, South. Of these, 70,681 are within the bounds of the Virginia Conference.

They do not come to us with an apology for their presence, and appeal to us as those of other days to Robert Raikes that teachers be hired to instruct them in the elementary branches of an English education; but they come with officers and teachers from the most cultured and influential classes of their several neighborhoods, who cheerfully give their time and talent to the work. And they claim a place in our churches, and a share of the time of our Holy Sabbath, where, and when, they may learn the will of our Lord concerning them, and how to serve Him. No man who loves his fellow beings, his church, and his Lord, can be indifferent to their claim. Their power for good, and the ability of the Church for doing them good is beyond the ability of man to calculate. As we see this mighty host with their gifts of money, mind and soul, which they offer freely to the disposal of the Church, what occurs to us as our duty as leaders in the Church of God? We cheerfully open the doors of our places of worship to them, and that too on the Lord's Day. We send forth from our Publishing House an abundance of the best literature ever published by our Church, and which is, for our purposes, superior to any published elsewhere, and at a price which will enable nearly all our schools to purchase a full supply; so that our people need not, and should not, buy from other houses.

With the money coming into the hands of our Board through the Children's Day collections, we have supplied every needy school with so much as is necessary, on application. The following is a statement of the number of schools aided, and of the literature purchased :

Number of schools aided.....	86
Number of scholars attending these schools.....	5,689
Number of Magazines.....	311
Number of Senior Quarterlies.....	1,210
Number of Intermediate Quarterlies.....	1,341
Number of Little People.....	859
Number of Lesson Papers.....	1,021
Number of Visitors.....	900
Number of Catechisms.....	777
Number of Young People's Hymnals.....	803
Number of Libraries.....	30

Thus, we are doing much for our schools; but much more needs to be done if we meet our obligation to the pupils under our charge. We will mention one need which in the judgment of your Board is as great as any. It is to have our officers and teachers better equipped for their duties. A number of men and women are willing to give their time and talent to this work, yet many of them fail to accomplish the good they should because they do not know how to work.

We suggest that all of our officers and teachers be supplied with our most excellent Magazine, and that they carefully study it; also, that teachers' meetings be held whenever practicable, and that Teachers' Institutes be held on each district at such time and place as shall be deemed suitable, where methods of management of schools and classes in teaching shall be considered.

The Home Department literature in full supply has been prepared by our Sunday-school Editor. This department of our Sunday-school work we commend to your consideration, and urge you wherever practicable to adopt.

Our General Conference has provided for the organization of our Sunday-schools into Missionary Societies. We call the attention of our pastors and superintendents to this law.

Our Children's Day collection supplies all the money with which we aid needy schools, besides we believe such exercises helpful to our scholars, by giving instruction, and providing healthful entertainment for them. We urge our schools to observe the same.

Respectfully,

T. J. TAYLOR, Chairman.

Examined and found correct.

J. T. MINOR,

R. B. HARTLEY,

*Auditing Committee.PUBLISHING INTERESTS.

The annual report of the book agents for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1899, has been received with satisfaction. It shows the total assets to be $911,685.20, and a gain in assets this year of $40,144.19. We regret, however, that, notwithstanding the large yearly gain, for some reason there was no distribution of funds as heretofore to the widows and orphans and worn-out preachers.

Despite the distraction incident to war, the terrors of pestilence, and the extensive destruction by rain and frost, when the settlement of the year was made there was found to be a large balance in favor of the House. This was due to the loyalty of the Methodist people to the great connectional institution. We, as individuals, should recognize our obligation as best we can to serve the church, through this medium, and to make this year one of large increase in the volume of the business of the House.

We shall receive with joy the news of the establishment, when the time is propitious, of our missionary publishing house in Shanghai, China, believing that it will prove a great instrument in the hands of God in winning that people to the Lord Jesus Christ.

We note with pleasure the good work done by Dr. A. G. Brown, through our book depository at Ashland, in distributing the books and periodicals of the House.

We are glad to know that the Sunday-school literature has reached such a standard of excellence as to commend it to all of our people.

The steady growth and improvement of the Epworth Era is a source of gratification, and we trust that the day is not far distant when it will be entirely self-supporting.

The Southern Methodist Review, the Christian Advocate and the Review of Missions are publications which are worthy of our great church, and we commend them to our people.

We also call attention to the Methodist Magazine, which, though not a publication of our House, is well worth the attention of every Methodist.

Noticing the improvement in the Richmond Christian Advocate, we present it to our people, and offer the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Bishop be requested to appoint the Rev. Dr. J. J. Lafferty and the Rev. H. M. Hope editor and associate editor of the Richmond Christian Advocate.

As regards the "Publishing House claim," the position of this Conference of last year we re-affirm, and add thereto these resolutions:

Resolved—(1) That so far from being changed from our opinion, expressed at our last session, the letter of the Book Committee has but strengthened our opinion that it is impossible to justify the conduct of E. B. Stahlman or Barbee & Smith, and that their action must be repudiated by the highest body of the church—the General Conference.

Resolved—(2) That in view of all circumstances, we deem it the wiser course to await the regular session of the General Conference, at which time we feel that this question should be given precedence, and the church be entirely freed from the shame which has been brought upon her by her agents.

Respectfully submitted.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

The Epworth League continues to prosper. In his communication to this body the General Secretary says: "Since my last report, 588 new chapters have been chartered. The enrolled membership of the League in our connection is now 227,245, as against 202,805 at this date of last year, giving a net increase of 24,440 for the year." Slowly in some sections, but surely, the different departments of the League are being organized and developed, and through its instrumentality many important problems of Christian growth and activity are being solved. If any preacher has failed till now to make a success of the League, let him try again—try diligently, intelligently, persistently, and his labor may yet be rewarded.

We call especial attention to the Epworth Era, general organ of the Epworth League, edited by Rev. H. M. DuBose, D. D., and published by our House at Nashville. The Era has grown in popularity till to-day its circulation passes the 15,000 mark, and starts confidently upon the 20,000 quarter. And that is deserving. It is in every particular a first-class paper. Its literary articles, letters of art and travel, its editorials, its departmental helps for junior and senior Leagues, all these combine to make it as it is regarded, one of the best papers for young people—one of the best religious papers of any kind published in this country. Let our Leagues avail themselves of the liberal club rates offered by the publishers and put an Era in the home of every Leaguer. And where there is no organization, the work of the League would be largely accomplished through individual subscriptions. The preacher has done a real service for any young Methodist whom he has induced to subscribe to the Epworth Era.

The Virginia Conference Orphanage is at last fairly launched in the adoption of a site, and the appointment by this body of a Board of Trustees. Most heartily do we congratulate our young people upon this early consummation of their hopes. It was a Leaguer that suggested the idea of an orphanage, Leaguers that kept up the agitation till the idea took shape in action, and it was the adoption of memorial resolutions presented to this body from the Epworth League State Conference that provided the special orphanage committee. The Virginia Conference is behind the movement, and is responsible for its success, but the young people sustain to it a relationship that will certainly guarantee their enthusiastic interest. We have no sympathy with the statement sometimes made that the League must have some special work upon which to concentrate or it will die. If the League is the young people of the church at work—and there is no reason to doubt that it is—then it is the young people doing the regular work of the church. That regular work may be routine, but it is none the less important, and none the less engaging. We commend the orphanage to our young people for its own sake. It is the work of the church, than which none is more needed, more Christian, or more properly within the scope of the League constitution. There is no nobler “charity” and no more timely “help.” The biennial convention of the Epworth League State Conference is to be held in Richmond some time in the spring of next year, and the rallying idea of the great meeting is to be the Virginia Conference Orphanage. Let our young people talk of the plan in their meetings, get it thoroughly on their minds and hearts, and come to the Conference in Richmond ready to devise and adopt some plan of systematic co-operation with Sunday-schools, Woman’s Home Mission Societies, laymen’s unions and interested individuals, in the erection, maintenance and eventual endowment of this most beautiful and most needed benevolence.

We call attention to the missionary clause in the League constitution, and recommend—

1. The League throughout the Conference do all in their power to assist the pastors in raising the regular assessment for missions.
2. That every chapter of the League have the missionary committee provided by the League general constitution, composed of its most active workers, whose general work it shall be to awaken and encourage interest in missions, and whose specific work shall be to give information concerning our mission fields, and to assist the pastor in raising at least the full amount of assessment for missions.
3. That all funds raised by chapters of the League for missions be paid to the pastor and reported in the same manner as money raised for missions in the Sunday-school is reported, and that the Chairman of the Joint Board of Finance be instructed to provide the requisite column in the Conference blanks.

Respectfully submitted.

VIRGINIA CONFERENCE ORPHANAGE.

The committee appointed at the last session of the Virginia Annual Conference to consider the establishment of a Methodist Orphanage within the bounds of this Conference submits the following report :

The committee held its first meeting in the city of Norfolk on the 7th day of February, 1899. At this meeting propositions were submitted for the location of the orphanage at Lynchburg, Bedford City, Crewe, and Pebble Beach, on the James river. After discussion of the work before the committee, it was decided to communicate with Rev. J. W. Bledsoe and request him to secure information as to the various sites offered, and as to any other sites that he might consider eligible, and to make report to the committee not later than April 15, 1899. The committee met again in the city of Norfolk on April 13th. Not having sufficient information at hand to justify the selection of a site at this time, the following resolutions were adopted :

Resolved, That a sub-committee, consisting of A. Coke Smith, B. T. Barrow, and E. G. Moseley be appointed, with full power to select the site of the Virginia Conference Orphanage.

Resolved, That Dr. Bledsoe be instructed to visit such places as have been suggested as sites for the orphanage, and any other places his judgment may dictate, and to report such information as he may gather to the sub-committee on location.

The above-mentioned sub-committee held its first meeting in the city of Lynchburg on the first day of May, and adopted the following resolutions :

Resolved, That the Chairman be requested to announce through the press within the bounds of the Virginia Conference the readiness of this committee to receive propositions for the location of the orphanage; and that propositions be received up to, and including May 22d, 1899, at 12 M. Same to be addressed to E. G. Moseley, Secretary, at Danville, Va.

Resolved, That the agent of the General Committee, Rev. J. W. Bledsoe, be requested to submit any definite propositions that he may have or secure by May 22d.

On May 22d, the sub-committee met in Danville, Va., Rev. J. W. Bledsoe also being present. At this meeting propositions were submitted by Lynchburg, Richmond, and Bedford City, through their respective representatives, who appeared in person before the committee; and offers were also received from Buena Vista, Charlottesville, and Warrenton. After full discussion, the following resolution was adopted :

Resolved, That all of the propositions offered us be rejected except those of Lynchburg and Richmond, Va., and that this committee adjourn to meet in the city of Richmond, Va., June 6th, to decide on the location of the orphanage. The full committee was also requested to meet with the sub-committee on the last mentioned date.

On the 6th day of June the committee met in the city of Richmond and visited the sites offered by the Methodist Centennial Committee for the location of the orphanage. A delegation from Ashland also appeared before the committee, and offered fifty acres of land at that place as a site, and one thousand dollars in cash, conditioned upon the location of the orphanage there. The proposition from Richmond not being sufficiently definite in terms or in form, the committee adjourned to meet in Danville on June 12th, in order to give time for a more formal proposition from Richmond.

On June 12th the committee met according to adjournment in the city of Danville. The proposition from the Centennial Church Extension Committee of Richmond, signed by the leading laymen of the city, offering four acres of land in the western section of the city, and further pledging the individual efforts of the signers towards the raising of funds for the erection of suitable buildings and for the support of the inmates of the institution, was laid before the committee. The committee was furthermore given to understand that it might select any site in or near the city of Richmond that was available, and that such site would be donated by the Methodists of Richmond. Communications were also read from the Chamber of Commerce and from the Young Men's Business Association of Richmond pledging their support and sympathy. After the fullest discussion, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the offer submitted by the Centennial Church Extension Society of Richmond be accepted, and that the orphanage be located in the city of Richmond.

Resolved, That Rev. W. J. Young, W. H. Vincent and Rev. E. H. Rawlings be appointed a sub-committee to select the exact site for location of the orphanage, after consultation with the Centennial Committee of Richmond.

Rev. E. H. Rawlings was also appointed at this meeting to visit or correspond with various orphanages, with a view to securing information as to the most approved methods in building and management.

The last mentioned sub-committee held two meetings in the city of Richmond; the first on June 23rd and the second on October 12th, each time investigating the advantages of the various sites offered and personally inspecting them. At the second meeting, after conference with representatives of the Centennial Church Extension Society of Richmond, the sub-committee decided to recommend the selection of a site consisting of at least ten acres, situated on the northern suburbs of the city, in what is known as Highland Park, on the line of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, and also on the line of an electric railway leading to the city. And this recommendation was approved by the general committee at its session held in the city of Petersburg, November 14th.

Your committee has given earnest attention to the selection both of the city and of the site for the location of the orphanage, and believes the selection made to be the best available one in the State. Your committee has made gratifying progress in the direction of presenting the movement to our people, and is able to report a spirit of cordial sympathy and co-operation throughout the bounds of our Conference, which renders the success of the movement certain. In this connection, the committee desires to record its appreciation of the generous and efficient services rendered by Rev. J. W. Bledsoe in the direction of pressing this matter upon the attention of our people, both at the district Conferences and elsewhere. The committee likewise acknowledges its obligations to Mr. W. H. Vincent for his liberality in placing funds at its command for the furtherance of the work.

The committee makes the following recommendations:

Second. That the orphanage be located near the city of Richmond, upon the site selected by the sub-committee, as recited above, in what is known as Highland Park, and consisting of not less than ten acres of land.

the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; and the said Trustees shall have power to increase their number to twenty-five, and to fill all vacancies, subject to the confirmation of the Virginia Annual Conference: Trustees—J. ## TEMPERANCE.

The cause of temperance continues to command attention in our bounds, though we regret that many of the organizations heretofore so active for the suppression of the temptations to dissipation have comparatively ceased to operate. The church and her pulpit, however, we hope, have not failed to declare the duty of the Christian citizen in this matter. The danger of our young people arising from the system of legalized commerce in the destructive intoxicant is recognized by the thoughtful and pious. It seems acknowledged that the only remedy for the great evil is to be found in prohibition. To educate the public mind up to the enactment of such a law as will take away the authority of the State to the bar-room, seems the call of philanthropy. Surely the love of souls—the controlling motive of all true church activity—must make the ministry and laity of our Conference see duty and privilege combined in the measures that must be tributary to the safety of the people from so vicious a temptation as that of rum.

It is plain that if sin is chargeable upon the person who offers the intoxicating draught to his neighbor, it must be a wrong to vote for license to be given for such offering. It is equally clear that non-action is equivalent to favoring the traffic. To fail to prohibit a wrong is to connive at a wrong, whenever the authority for action in the premises belongs to the individual. Your committee hence urge upon pulpit and pew the importance of continuing to cry aloud and to spare not in the matter of our youth's peril from the wine cup.

The paper referred to your committee from "the Virginia Christian Missionary Society" has been considered, and we recommend the endorsation by this Conference of the petition of said body to the Legislature of Virginia for a law on the subject of teaching the nature and effects of alcohol in the public schools.

Your committee would offer the following resolution:

First, That two delegates be elected to attend the Anti-Saloon League to be held in Chicago, Ill., on the — day of December, 1899, and that one member of the Board of Directors of said League be chosen.

Respectfully submitted.

F. M. EDWARDS, Chairman.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE RECORDS.

Your committee to examine District Conference Records, beg leave to report that all the records were before us, and that all were neatly and correctly kept, with the single exception of the Danville district. The Recording Secretary failed to have an official roll, also failed to state who occupied the chair after the first session. Neither were the minutes signed by Chairman or Secretary.

Respectfully submitted. •

GEO. H. WILEY, Chairman.

W. A. S. CONRAD, Secretary.

CHURCH INSURANCE.

We, your Committee on Church Insurance, desire to report that the company established by the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, seems to us, from the information furnished us, to be safe, and to insure with a saving to our churches.

THE CONFERENCE MISSION BOARD.

"The world for Christ!" An inspiring motto for the Church of God.

That the world has urgent need of the gospel, that the gospel is perfectly adapted to the needs of the world, and that the gospel is intended for all the world, cannot for one moment be doubted.

The teachings and commands of Christ, with respect to the claims of the world upon His gospel, are explicit. To antagonize them is to impugn His truth and question His authority. "This is my beloved Son, hear ye Him," is God's injunction to the church.

To appropriate the blessings of the gospel to ourselves, and to ignore the cry of the helpless millions who are clamoring for light and salvation, is selfish and ignoble, and utterly at variance with the mind of Christ. The missionary conscience of the church at large is being quickened by the Divine Spirit, and increased activity in the work of saving the world is manifest.

Our own beloved Church cannot afford to be indifferent to this work. We have much to incite us to renewed zeal and effort. Our own foreign fields give promise of an abundant harvest in the near future. New and inviting fields are opening before us, and we should go in at once and possess the land. Let us speed the day when "Every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

Your Board has had under review the domestic missions of the Conference, and their condition on the whole is gratifying. The following have become self-sustaining: St. James, Richmond, Chestnut Avenue, Newport News, and Lekies Memorial, Norfolk. In some of the charges the outlook for enlargement is not promising, but the money appropriated to them is judiciously expended, as the ground they occupy is truly missionary.

Our Divine Lord commands that the strong should always help the weak. The Board gave assistance during the past year to seventy-five charges—one-third of the charges of the Conference.

Our noble and consecrated women, both of the foreign and home departments of mission work, are still diligently prosecuting their work, and their societies are increasing in number and efficiency. We commend their work.

The Board is pleased to note the growth of the missionary spirit in our Sunday-schools, and we respectfully urge our pastors to organize their Sunday-schools into missionary societies, in accordance with the provision of the Discipline, not simply for the raising of funds for this work, but for the cultivation of the missionary spirit among our children. Our Rosebuds are still blooming, and the fragrance of their generous deeds is as ointment poured forth, refreshing and blessing others.

Your Board has sustained a great loss in the death of its honored and able President, Rev. R. N. Sledd, D. D., a loss felt not only by our own Conference, but by the church at large. The following resolution attesting his worth has been placed upon the records of the Board:

Recognizing the great loss which, in the Providence of God, we have sustained in the death of our beloved brother, R. N. Sledd, D. D., who for so many years was the efficient Chairman of this Board, and remembering the great service he rendered the Church by his untiring zeal and wise labor in behalf of missions—

Resolved, 1, That as a mark of our esteem we record these resolutions on the minutes of the Board of Missions.

Resolved, 2, That as a further expression of our high appreciation, they be read at the missionary anniversary of this session of the Conference.

Rev. W. E. Edwards, D. D., has been elected President of the Board, and Rev. J. C. Reed Vice President.

The Board will pay on its appropriations for the past year dollar for dollar. The total collections for the year are as follows:

Foreign Missions.....	$18,755 43
Rally-Day.....	245 26
Domestic Missions.....	10,583 64
Woman's Foreign Missionary Societies.....	7,748 41
Rosebuds.. ..	3,788 29

The Board makes an assessment of $14,500 for the ensuing year.

The following resolution, passed by the Board, is commended to the pastors for their favorable consideration:

Resolved, That we give our approval to the efforts of the Epworth League Board to unite the forces of the League, so as to assist the pastors in disseminating missionary instruction and in raising the regular missionary collections assessed by the Conference.

The Board wishes to give emphasis to the request of the General Board of Missions that the collections be taken as early in the year as possible. This is a matter of great importance, and the pastors are urgently requested to give it their attention.

The Board nominates the following as delegates to the Ecumenical Conference on Foreign Missions, to be held in New York City Saturday, April 21st, to Tuesday, May 1st, 1900: W. E. Edwards, J. C. Reed and L. B. Betty.

Re-organization of the Board of Missions: Rev. W. E. Edwards, D. D., President; Rev. J. C. Reed, Vice-President; Rev. L. B. Betty, Secretary.

Fraternally submitted,

L. B. BETTY, Secretary.
